By Yasmin Salahuddin

Successful Bahraini fashion designer, Yasmin Salahuddin, just launched her brand, Yazi, in Kuwait. She draws inspiration for her style from her background in graphic design and living in London. On being asked to define her style, she says that it's a blend of traditional Bahraini with a modern twist. "I use abstract and bold prints in my scarves and play with shapes. My designs have hidden depth and intricacies you will only notice from looking closely. My collection of statement clutches is perfect for the sophisticated woman of today."
